The lighting project realized during the Salone del Mobile 2008 aims to turn the event into a sensory experience that can imprison the viewer emotionally and imprint in his memory for a long time. Light, with its many shades and shadows, penetrates, silent and invisible, in the space of others lining the surfaces with bright emotions and highlighting the links, sometimes unconscious, that a set up area can create. The lighting of these spaces is simply the development of a metaphor: the light, the first and the last thing we see during the day as in our existence, is the alpha and omega of life.
